Mr. Greg Hamden
ACME Financial Corporation
123 Elm Street
Dallas, Texas 75019

“Matt is one of those rare individuals who excels at both financial strategy formulation and operational execution, and has done so successfully in large, small, early stage, mature, private, and public companies across many different industries. Matt can be counted on to deliver innovative, value-creating insights and he has the experience, tenacity and persistence to ensure those benefits are fully realized.”

– Paul Miller, CEO of Global Profit Corp.

Dear Mr. Hamden,

Would you like help in realizing radical revenue and profit growth?

Throughout my career, I’ve held high-profile financial executive roles while empowering multinational corporations to achieve financial stability and billion-dollar revenue increases.

Some of my accomplishments include:

- Driving a 20-fold revenue increase and generating $980+ million through the completion of 5 acquisitions.
- Scaling a financial organization to successfully support annual business growth from $56 million to $1.2 billion.
- Increasing operational profits from 9% to 26% of the company’s total revenue within 3 years.

My management style can be described as “hands-on” and decisive, yet flexible. I value and reward creative thinking, initiative, teamwork, commitment, and performance. Capitalizing on employee strengths, I consistently turn diverse staffs into empowered, smooth-running teams.

I know I can help ACME Financial Corporation exceed its own expectations for success, and I would welcome the opportunity to explore my potential contributions further. Thank you for your time, interest, and consideration of my qualifications. I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Sincerely,

Matt Thompson

Enclosure: Résumé

“Matt is one of those rare combinations of wickedly smart and detail oriented and yet can pull back and see the entire vision and direction of where a company should be headed. He has a great intuitive sense of what should and will work. A fair warning, don't even try to outwork Matt. His work ethic and tenacity make him the go to player in any crunch time scenario because you know he won't sleep (very literally) until the job is done. And to top it all off, his integrity and kindness are second to none.”
